A LIVE, VIRTUAL TOUR TO
DUBROVNIK, CROATIA

Famous Foods

GRILLED FISH

Many dishes in Dubrovnik are simple and rustic. To prepare fish (very fresh), locals often just brush the fish with olive oil, flavor with lemon juice and grill. Served with a side of vegetables, this meal is a regional classic.

BLITVA

For a healthy and delicious accompaniment to grilled fish, locals in Dubrovnik often choose blitva. This is a side dish featuring chunks of boiled, then pan-fried potatoes with Swiss chard and sliced garlic mixed in. Finished with a dash of salt and pepper.

ROŽATA

To satisfy a sweet tooth, locals in Dubrovnik choose a popular custard-style dish called rožata. While it looks like crème brûlée, rožata tastes unlike any other dessert due to the addition of rose liqueur in the recipe. It is a traditional medieval dessert.

Famous Drinks

COFFEE

Apart from the vast turns of over stewed brown liquid served up by hotels at breakfast time, coffee is usually of a high quality. It is served as a strong black espresso unless specified otherwise – kava sa mlijekom or makijato comes with a drop of milk, kava sa šlagom comes with cream, and bijela kava (white coffee) is usually like a good caffè latte.

PAŠARETA

Soft drinks produced by the Ferenčić family since 1924. A simple recipe, sugar, water and fruit aromas. A red carbonated soft drink that has been produced only in Pazin, Slovenia.

CIDRANI

Cidrani - organic, very potent apple cider vinegars and kombucha with "wild mother probiotics" that support gut health.

THE TOUR

On our tour we will see the most famous street of the town, Stradun (Placa). Here we will stroll along the limestone-paved street, the main pedestrian thoroughfare through the Old Town, running from Pile Gate in the west to Ploče Gate in the east. Originally a sea channel, it was filled in during the 12th century, and is now lined with souvenir shops and pricey cafés. Next we will see the town's first pharmacy, founded in 1317, it is one of the oldest pharmacies in Europe. Along the way we will hear about the first running water system. We will walk along the narrow streets, see the old harbor and pass by all of the most important buildings in town. The entire walk will be like one big moving postcard, as the beauty of the town will blow your mind. A true screen shot experience!
