

A Few Apps for Lifelong Learning

Here are four fun apps for you to explore! Scan the QR code to visit each app's website. To get started with any of the apps below, download them from the Google Play store or the Apple App store.

Adobe Fresco is a free drawing app that works on Mac and PC desktops, as well as iPhones and iPads. It's a popular tool for artists and dabblers alike. On your iPad or iPhone, use your finger or a stylus to draw. Explore different types of brushes and other digital tools to enhance your drawings.

Seek is a free app that uses a smartphone's camera and image recognition technology to identify plants and animals. It also provides detailed information about each species and allows users to explore and learn about nature through fun challenges.

Duolingo is a free app that helps you learn new languages through a fun, gaming experience. Get started right away - choose a language from over 30 options, and start answering questions to begin learning new vocabulary and grammar. Sign up for an account to keep track of your progress.

Yousician is a series of free apps that help you learn to sing or play instruments, such as piano, guitar, bass, ukulele. The app offers interactive tutorials created by professional teachers. All you need is the instrument itself - the app uses your device's mic to give feedback on how you play, so you don't need any cables or other equipment!

